

Song of a Forgotten Summer

Venue: Theatro Technis
Address: 26 Crowndale Rd
 London, NW1 1TT
Company: Magic Factory Ltd
Play: Song of a Forgotten Summer
By: Devdariani after Grin
Dates: 3rd April - 22nd April 2007
Time: 7.30pm
Cost: £10.00 (£8.00 concs)
Bookings: 020 7387 6617

Following a successful staging of The Last Adventure in 2006, a one act play adapted by Dimitri Devdariani from Grin's writing, Magic Factory is delighted to be staging a full length performance based on the work of this unusual author.

Song of a Forgotten Summer is the first major introduction to an English-speaking audience of the outstanding, unique and original works written at the beginning of the last century by the Russian fantasy writer, Alexander Grin. We hope that it will help western audiences to discover this so far unknown gem of Russian literature.

The collection of short stories that inspired this play highlight the complexity of human emotion and portray a deep understanding of nature.

About the director

Dimitri Devdariani originally came from his native Georgia to study directing in this country. Previous productions include his own plays and works by other authors—produced in Camden, The Drill Hall and the Lion and Unicorn theatre. For more information please visit: www.magicfactory.org.uk

Illustrations taken from The Last Adventure (2006)

